ENGINUITY SEARCH INCORPORATED

located in historic Lexington, Massachusetts and founded in 1983, is recognized as a nationally respected placement-consulting firm. We are successfully committed to the strategic review and analysis of each of our clients in planning and assessing their computer technology career objectives. The establishment of a lasting affiliation based on trust and confidentiality is our foundation creating the building blocks to meet the future interests of our clients and candidates. In fact, we have created a standard which not only meets, but exceeds customer expectations, benefiting both sides of the employment equation.

ESMAILGHORBANI, co-founder and president is responsible for navigating the direction of the company, developing and attaining business goals and running the day-to-day operations. His ability to assess both company and clientele needs has led to the visionary strategies that have formed the heart of commitment and respect within the hi-tech industry.
